Memorial service

St. Rose United Methodist Church, 301 Herlihy St., Waveland, will hold a musical memorial on Sunday, Nov. 18, at 3 p.m. in memory of Erika Renee Thomas.

Miss Thomas, age five at the time, was killed one year ago by a hit-and-run driver who was later arrested.

Rev. Donald Peters said, "This special musical memorial service is in memory of Miss Thomas and is open to all of the youth of Waveland and the surrounding areas."

Several youth choirs from area churches will perform.

For further information, call Rev. Peters, 466-9185 or 466-9443.

Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 28

The annual free Thanksgiving dinner will be held on Thursday, Nov. 28, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the American Legion Post 139, Green Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis.

The menu includes sliced turkey with gravy, stuffing, mashed potatoes, vegetable, salad, dessert, iced tea, coffee or milk.

All items for the dinner are donated by individuals, organizations and stores.

This is the 11th year for the free dinner cooked by the Kelly, Scarborough, Bosarge, Massengill and Adams families.

The dinner is free to all, and carry-outs will be available for house-bound residents. If any food remains after the dinner, it will be given to the Salvation Army.

Smokeout set Thursday

The American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout has been set for Thursday, Nov. 21.

'Red tide' hurts coast oystermen

BY ED LEPOMA

Apparently, it's the self-employed oystermen who are feeling the pinch from oyster reefs closed more than a week now in Mississippi due to the current "red tide."

Local seafood wholesalers report they're still able to supply regular customers, and local restaurants have not yet raised prices for the savory mollusks.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources closed reefs Nov. 7 due to a high concentration of toxic organisms caused by an algae bloom in the western Mississippi Sound. The reefs will be closed for an undetermined amount of time to give the algae, which is referred to as "red tide," time to clear up, and the DMR is taking daily samples at its Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs.

Similar outbreaks of "red tide" are also occurring in parts of Florida, Alabama, and Louisiana. On Thursday, the Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals closed reefs east of the Mississippi River Gulf Outlet to oyster harvesting.

Kirk Ladner of Terry's Seafood in Bayou Caddy, one of the area's largest wholesalers of seafood, said he has been able to keep his 30 to 40 customers supplied.

"But, it's the little fishermen who are devastated," said Ladner. "This is the time of the year when they start fishing for customers who want to stock up for Thanksgiving and Christmas."

He said about 1,000 sacks of oysters a day come into his docks from local reefs, "but, now there are none."

Ladner said he was also concerned about people's steering away from oysters when reefs are reopened.

"It (business) will depend on how scared people will be when they open back up," said Ladner.

"I want to emphasize the state does a real good job of monitoring the reefs," he said. "They are not going to reopen them until it is entirely safe to do so."

Greg Thompson, who retails seafood off Hwy. 603, says he still has a good amount of raw oysters on hand, and was picking up some more Friday. He said shucked oysters are selling for $4.79 a pint or $8.99 a quart.

Bradford Jordan, owner of Bradford's (wholesale) Seafood Co. in Pass Christian, said his supply was not affected because he has his own dock in Hopedale, La., east of the Ship Channel, and the reefs in that area remain open.

He also commended the DMR and the Louisiana Health Department for taking precautionary measures.

"Oysters are the most regulated product in the United States," said Jordan. "The peo-

Bay projects to go forward

BY BETSY GAGNET

Bay St. Louis may have to do a little belt tightening in order to pay for the capital improvements going on within the city.

Within the last two years the city has undertaken the renovation of the L&M Depot, construction of a Senior Citizens Center, construction of an athletic center and improvement of a large portion of the city's drainage system.

The Senior Citizen's Center was originally contemplated to cost the city $160,000, but the final bill may exceed $300,000.

According to Mayor Eddie Favre, the Depot renovation cost the city approximately $400,000, the Senior Center will cost approximately $300,000, and the athletic center approximately $600,000.

Costs on the drainage program are not totaled yet, but estimates on just the first three phases come in right around $4.2 million.

All but the depot restoration project are part of the $5.5 million dollar capital improvement

Waveland tables stronger pawn law

BY RICHARD MEEK

A new law designed to help Waveland police better identify stolen merchandise sold through pawn shops may be rescinded before ever taking effect.

Although Jay Fleuriot initially approved the new ordinance, he is spearheading a move that would rescind it. The board of Aldermen approved the ordinance, which requires pawn shops in Waveland to complete a more detailed form when buying merchandise from a customer, to make it easier for law enforcement officials to track stolen merchandise.

The new form requires a copy of a picture identification of the seller, as well as a fingerprint. But that new ordinance, which was to have been effective Nov. 1, is being protested by several pawn shop owners.

"We have received complaints about (the new form) from customers," one pawn shop owner said. "Now I have to treat the customer like a criminal."

But Waveland Investigator Greg Martin said the form is a tool to help the police department "positively identify items that may have been stolen."

"It helps us get the property back," he said. "The thumbprint helps us identify the person who pawned the merchandise."

Pawn shops are required by state law to notify the police of any merchandise pawned in the store. But the form required by law is not as detailed as the form being proposed by the Waveland Police Department, and police report not all pawn shop owners are complying with the law.

"All we are asking for is a form to be used and filled out properly so we can recover property for the people it has been

Waveland recycling starts

BY ED LEPOMA

Get ready Waveland. Curbside recycling's coming.

The Hancock County Solid Waste District held a special meeting Friday afternoon to finalize plans with its contractor on how to go about quickly starting to educate and inform the public of its countywide plans to recycle, with particular emphasis on extending curbside recycling to Waveland residents as soon as possible.

They agreed on this start up plan:

As early as next Tuesday, trucks manned by Mississippi Resources Inc. will begin putting door tags on homes in Waveland asking residents if they want to participate in the recycling program. Homes will be provided educational material on what products will be recycled, and residents will be told to call the Waveland Public Works Department at 467-9248 to request a collection bin if they want to participate.

On Tuesday, routes will be run west of Waveland and north of 90; on Wednesday, between St. Joseph and Nicholson Ave.; on Thursday, east of Nicholson; and on Friday, between Waveland Avenue and St. Joseph Street.

Officials said citizens can start recycling next week using cardboard boxes to discard their products until bins are distributed to them. There is no charge for the bins. The Solid Waste District voted to purchase 1,000 of them.

Speeding complaints received by Bay PD

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Motorists using the streets of Bay St. Louis need to slow down, according to assistant Police Chief Dave Stepro.

On Friday Stepro said, "We are receiving complaints from across the city about vehicles speeding on the streets. We have even received reports of motorists passing school buses with signals out loading and unloading students."

"This is going to become a serious problem for the school bus routes," Stepro added.

In recent weeks Stepro and Bay Police have been receiving complaints about speeding motorists.

The Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving, Nov. 29 and 30, Bay Police are scheduled to set up roadblocks about the city to check motorists, according to Stepro.

"The long holiday season is fast approaching and we want everyone to have a happy and a safe time in our community. Many parties will be going on. All residents, if they are going to drink, we encourage a designated driver, one who is not drinking to drive," Stepro said.

In recent weeks Stepro and Bay Police have been receiving complaints about speeding motorists.

P&H Commission adopts casino resolution

BY RICHARD MEEK

Like a child being forced to down vegetables at dinner, the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission reluctantly agreed to Board of Supervisors President Philip Moran's request to adopt a resolution endorsing the proposed Casino World development near Diamondhead.

P&H Executive Director Hal Walters told commissioners Moran requested the resolution be adopted "even though we are heavily involved" in the project.

Supervisors passed a resolution endorsing Casino World on Nov. 4, one day after Mississippi Gaming Commission Director Gen. Paul Harvey, in an exclusive interview with the Sea Coast Echo, claimed the county was anti-gaming, and anti-business.

The supervisors passed the resolution 4-1, with District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward the lone dissenter. It was Coward's overwhelming support in Diamondhead that carried her to an upset win over incumbent Howard Lizana in the primary in the summer of 1995.

The P&H last year had entered into an agreement with Casino World to lease water bottoms on the Bay of St. Louis to the company for $500,000 a year for 10 years. Initially, it was thought the lease would be the commission's only involvement in the project.

However, to the disappointment of some commissioners, the commission has been forced to get involved with permitting and in other areas, including helping Casino World defend an upcoming lawsuit.

"Everybody knows why we did this," Commission Treasurer Louis Brown said. "We needed the money for infrastructure. But this thing is getting to be a political football. We should be removed from the political side of it."

"You told us we had nothing to do," he told Walters. "Now we are helping defend a lawsuit. We are being dragged deeper and deeper into the position of having to join into this effort."

Walters admitted he erred, but added "we were breaking new ground. I should have known. This probably won't be the last time I make a mistake."

"It is an economic development project, although certainly not as positive as (plastics manufacturer) Wellman," he said.

Commissioner Lou Hall, who lives in Diamondhead and is a public opponent of the development, said he is concerned about Casino World's financial stability. Casino World is a subsidiary of Europa Cruise Lines, whose stock is trading for under $1 per share.

Hall said he is also concerned because Casino World has not produced any financial documentation.

"I worry about us dealing with a paper corporation," Hall said. "We have not seen any financial statements or financial responsibility. Europa's last statement did not look good."

"We have already seen one failure (the Jubilation Casino)," he added. "The (Casino) Magic's last report said they are losing money. (Europa's) stock is selling for a fraction of a dollar. This outfit with no money is planning on putting a casino in the Bay. It is far-fetched."

"Our name is attached to it and it bothers me."

Brown agreed with Hall, and reminded the commission that when a prospect expresses interest in either locating at Port Bienville Industrial Park or the airport at Stennis International Airport, one of the first requirements of the company is to produce a financial statement or "evidence of financial responsibility."

Walters admitted Europa is "not viable enough to make it happen by themselves. We've known that all along."

Commissioner Russell Elliott endorsed the resolution, saying that approval of Moran's request "shows our respect for the supervisors that control this whole board."

Casino World has faced a multitude of legal and environmental obstacles since the project was announced. Some Diamondhead residents have voiced opposition and the Environmental Protection Agency and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers have poised several environmental questions.

Europa officials have said they plan to continue to pursue the project, which calls for two gambling barges in the Bay, a 450-room hotel and five-story garage, a nine-hole golf course and an RV park on the shore.

Plans call for an elevated walkway to connect the hotel to the casino.

Diamondhead residents' complaints have ranged from the diminishing of property values to increased traffic at the Diamondhead exit off of Interstate 10.

The resolution passed 6-1, with Hall the only negative vote.

Tour of homes

The Gulfport Civic League's 37th annual Christmas Tour of Homes will be Sunday, Dec. 8, 2-5 p.m. The donation requested is $5.

For ticket information call 896-7284 or 896-4026.

The annual tour is the Civic League's only fund raiser. The proceeds are used for projects throughout the year to help disabled children and adults. We purchase braces, shoes, artificial limbs and such for those who are in need.

Three homes in the Gulfport area are featured on the tour and St. Mark Episcopal Church will be the "Tea House" where refreshments will be served by Civic League members. There will be continuous entertainment throughout the afternoon. A tour trolley will be available at the east side of Hardy Court Shopping Center.

Herald's Bay office to move

BY ED LEPOMA

The Sun Herald's Hancock County Bureau is being asked to vacate its offices on Main Street across from the Courthouse by Jan. 1.

Supervisors have served notice that they intend to put offices of the Hancock County Building Inspector in half of the county building that has been occupied by the newspaper for several years. The other half of the red-brick building houses the county's purchasing and veterans services offices.

Supervisors made the decision after William Gavney, the county's building inspector, complained that citizens had trouble finding his office, now located in the rear of the county assessor's office, further down on Main Street.

Originally, Gavney was to take the office space in the annex attached to the rear of the courthouse that will be vacated by the county Civil Defense Department, which is among agencies moving to the C.C. McDonald Building. But, supervisors later agreed to a request by Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler to give that space to the county election commission.

In recent budget hearings, supervisors allocated more money for the building inspector to hire a parttime secretary and extend office hours five days a week.

Among other duties, Gavney's office issues permits allowing people to build in flood prone areas of Hancock County, and checks for proper sewerage disposal.

Gavney's office is under direct supervision of the county's Planning Commission, and they share secretarial services.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I am just wondering when was the last time you spent only 90¢ for a lunch.

Well I did so on Wednesday at a Keesler Air Force Base Mess Hall.

The lunch included lasagna, roll and drink. Bay High's AFJROTC Cadets were surprised at the cost of food too, as many had to try the desserts and ice cream and only ended up spending $1.25 for two hamburgers and a drink.

The Bay High Cadets and I were guests of the 403rd Wing and 815th Airlift Squadron. Cadet Booster Woody Geisel was also aboard.

Some 37 Cadets got the thrill of a orinetation flight along the coast in one of the 815th's C-130 Hercules. They got to see their campus from the air, which was really a big thrill for the cadets.

Major Joe Mariotti, Aerospace Science Instructor, made arrangements with the Air Force for the special flight.

I wish everyone could have seen the joy on the faces of the young Cadets as they gazed out the small windows of the aircraft designed primarily for transportation of cargo and personnel within a theater of operations.

The crews of the 815th Airlift Squadron have been involved in missions all over the world.

Those missions have included relief efforts in war-torn Bosnia-Herzegovina, peacekeeping operations in Haiti, and duty in the Middle East during Operation Desert Shield and many others.

The 815th stationed at Keesler is composed of officers and enlisted personnel. Several are air reserve technicians.

Anyway, I think it was great for the students of Bay High's AFJROTC to have had an opportunity to take part in the orientation flight. I have a feeling it will be one the highlights of their high school education.

Keesler Air Force Base has been and continues to be a tremendous asset for the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Cochran, Lott to participate in Lucas tribute

Mississippi's two U.S. senators, Thad Cochran and Trent Lott, will be among dignitaries and friends paying tribute to outgoing University of Southern Mississippi President Aubrey K. Lucas at a black-tie, invitation-only dinner in Biloxi Nov. 22.

WNBC-TV news anchor and correspondent Chuck Scarborough of New York, a 1969 USM graduate, will serve as master of ceremonies for the 7 p.m. tribute dinner at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention Center. A reception will begin the event at 6 p.m.

Lott, U.S. Senate majority leader, and Cochran, the state's senior senator and chairman of the Senate Republican Conference, are among some 400 dinner guests expected to pay tribute to Lucas. Both lawmakers have played influential Washington roles in nurturing USM's development over the years.

Others honoring Lucas, who will step aside Dec. 31 after serving 21½ years as USM president, include Dr. Kent Wyatt, president of Delta State University, and Dr. J. Edgar "Bud" Lucas, a USM alumnus and president of the state College Board. Dr. Frances Lucas-Taucher, daughter of Lucas and vice president and dean for campus life at Emory University, and the co-chairs of the Tribute Committee, Iris Easterling and Edward J. Langston, both of Hattiesburg.

"Dr. Lucas has exerted a leadership style that reflects his sterling moral character and that has affected thousands positively," said Easterling. "This dinner will provide an opportunity to express appreciation to him and Mrs. Lucas for their significant contributions to USM and the larger community."

Lucas—who will be succeeded in January by a new USM president, Dr. Horace Fleming Jr., currently executive vice president and provost of Mercer University in Macon, Ga.—will make a response during the dinner.

Special presentations also will be made during the event by Moran Pope Jr. of Hattiesburg, chairman of the Aubrey K. Lucas Faculty Excellence Endowment Campaign; John Polk of Prentiss, president of the USM Alumni Association; and Moran Pope III of Hattiesburg, president of the USM Foundation.

Scarborough, a Pittsburgh, Pa., native, entered television news in 1966 at Biloxi's WLOX-TV after a four-year stint in the U.S. Air Force. He later reported for WDAM-TV between Hattiesburg and Laurel while working on a degree at USM.

The Gulf Coast dinner was among a variety of scheduled events designed to honor Lucas during his final months as USM president. Homecoming 1996 at USM Nov. 1-3 was dubbed "A Bow-Tie Affair" to recognize Lucas' trademark attire.

Lucas received the USM Alumni Association's Meritorious Service Award during the association's Hall of Fame Dinner that weekend, and also was honored by the association during a Dr. Lucas Celebration dinner both at the Hattiesburg Country Club and at USM.

An exhibit, "The University Libraries Celebrate the Career of President Aubrey Keith Lucas," also went on display Nov. 1 in the first-floor lobby of USM's Cook Library. It was designed by USM Archives Specialist Yvonne Arnold.

Other upcoming events honoring Lucas include:

Dec. 4—A reception by USM students will be held from 3-5 p.m. on the Union plaza or Union lobby, depending on the weather.

Dec. 12—A final farewell event by USM faculty, staff and students will be from 3-5 p.m. at Reed Green Coliseum. USM offices will close, and faculty are encouraged to cancel classes during this time. Local Circuit Judge Richard McKenzie will emcee the event—which is being organized by representatives of the Faculty Senate, Staff Council and Student Government Association. For information, call 266-5861.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Common Cause leader says Sen. Lott to be key in campaign finance reform

Mississippi Republican Sen. Trent Lott is going to be a key player in whether or not Congress brings about widely demanded campaign finance reform, says the national head of Common Cause, the citizens' watchdog group.

Lott, as Senate Majority Leader, will determine the fate of a bi-partisan bill to clean up the campaign finance mess, Ann McBride, Common Cause's president, told a meeting of Mississippi members here the other night.

McBride was referring to the McCain-Feingold bill (sponsored by Sen. John McCain, R-Arizona, and Sen. Russ Feingold, D-Wisconsin) that had a good chance of passing but died in a Senate filibuster. The bill had 56 votes, but needed 60 to end the filibuster.

Lott helped kill the bill even though McCain, the chief author, is a leading Republican who was one of Bob Dole's close advisors in the presidential race.

"Sen. Lott is going to be one of a handful of people in America who will determine if we will have campaign finance reform," McBride said.

"I hope he (Lott) will support McCain-Feingold but I doubt that he will," she added.

Lott has always been a heavy beneficiary of political action committee (PAC) money.

McBride said "We're going to press him (Lott) to deal with reforming the entire campaign finance system and not to just investigate the foreign money in the Clinton campaign, as he said in his post-election news conference."

Common Cause has asked Attorney General Janet Reno to appoint a special counsel to investigate the fund-raising of both President Clinton's and Bob Dole's campaigns, she said. Presidential fund-raising is only one part of needed reform, she added, "but Congress remains a huge part of the problem, since 95 percent of the members were re-elected in this election."

No longer is there a "Democratic Party or Republican Party in Congress, but an 'incumbent's party,'" McBride said. Incumbents are able to outspend challengers four to one or better with the kind of money they can raise, she said.

Most of it comes from special interests who are not interested in good government, but in buying access to power, she said.

Common Cause would like to see a campaign finance bill that would give citizens a level playing field by putting on spending limits and providing that if candidates complied with the limits they would be entitled to free broadcast time and lower advertising rates.

amounts PACs can give.

McBride said she felt confident that the fund-raising scandals of the 1996 election, and the public demand for reform of the system as expressed by 80 percent of the voters in exit polls, will bring reform next year. "It is heartening that for the first time campaign reform has taken the center of the stage in a presidential race," she declared.

In Mississippi, campaign finance reform is also in the air. Secretary of State Eric Clark is ready to push for the campaign funding reform bill he backed in the Legislature in the last session that did not even get out of committee. His bill would reduce the threshold for reporting campaign contributions to $100 for both statewide and legislative candidates.

Now legislative candidates do not have to report contributions of less than $200 nor statewide candidates less than $500.

"You can hide a lot now under the $500 threshold if you want to," Clark declared.

A couple of years ago the Legislature had required that the names of persons giving money to PACs within the state must be reported but exempted PACs located outside the state.

This, said Clark, has led to creation of "sham PACs" which have an out-of-state address but are actually made up of Mississippi contributors.

His proposal would require names of all contributors to any PAC to be reported whether in-state or outside.

Getting campaign finance reform through the Mississippi Legislature, Clark added, "is a tough nut to crack." You could say that and then some for getting reform through Congress.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

"I have read your article... I do not know if you will take the time to read this letter but I hope that you do—and not just read it but think about it."

"The village that you write about in your article, the one that is promoted by Hillary Clinton and that you endorse, thereby endorsing the reelection of your current President, is nothing short of disappointing and disturbing. I believe that we as individuals do have a responsibility to care for those that are in need. I believe that in helping them we must give these people a sense of self-worth and value. The 'village' that Hillary Clinton speaks of provides neither, rather it takes both of these characteristics of personal dignity away...

"The quantity of charitable giving is down in this nation—the reason should be so clear as the nose on each one of our faces. This nation is becoming a nation that believes that government has taken over the role of the charitable giver and by paying our taxes, we are supporting the charities and therefore we are good people and have already been charitable. We have not.

"The notion of a 'village' in which charity is mandated and rewards are expected for it, goes against what the Church has taught me."

Unfortunately, space allows me to quote only about one fifth of the letter sent by Carmen Posey of Houston. However, what was quoted gives some of the meat of the letter.

Fire also came down through the Texas Catholic Herald by the pen of Patricia Adam: "No! It doesn't take a village to raise a child! It takes a loving and caring family.

"Africa being a Third World country, I find this aphorism does not apply to life as we experience in the United States.

Whoa! Number one, the persons of Hillary Clinton and Bob Dole were mere springboards to discussion. They happen to be political figures who polarize people to the right and left. Hardly an endorsement, I quoted David Duke when he was right.

I had no political agenda in mind. It may surprise you to hear that both parties turn me off. Apparently, I am not far from many Americans who are constantly letting the world know that there should be a plague on both parties.

Beyond a doubt, I agree fully with the two correspondents that it takes a loving and caring family to rear a child. I have no further to look for proof than my own dear parents. But that is not the point of discussion. That is undeniable.

Neither is charity or welfare bureaucracy a part of the "village." The need implied here is far more social, moral.

The discussion is merely saying that, even given all the care and love of vigilant parents, we need all the help we can get. The loving, caring role of our parents is not diminished by but enhanced by loving, caring neighbors.

I will tell you the incredible extent of it. In officiating at the Mass of Resurrection of quite a number of friends and neighbors of yesteryear, I always feel deeply how much this person was a mother, father, sister, brother to me.

By the way, our history books tell us that Europe was converted by African Christians, and early Europeans routinely journeyed to Africa to study Christianity and asceticism.

All of us agree: It takes a family to rear a child. But let us not allow ideology or bent to reject a little help.

It takes family/village

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Is there a better warmer-upper on damp, chilly days than a savory, steaming bowl of soup? I think not; at least that was the case with me when I returned home after having been caught in a heavy rainstorm as I walked to my car after a trip to the supermarket.

The weather wasn't chilly enough to turn up the heat, and I was too chilly and damp for air conditioning. Heance, sniffing and sneezing instead of "cooking up a storm," I reached into the freezer for some of that marvelous "penicillin" remedy for colds and sniffles—Chicken Soup!

I had cooked up a batch of the soup from the last of Sunday's roasted chicken. Chicken soup for colds was a fixture of my childhood: one sniffle, one sneeze, a bit of a flush to the face, and off to bed you went, with chicken soup on the menu. It's still my favorite remedy for colds, and there's usually chicken soup and chicken stock on hand in my fridge and freezer. When I make chicken soup, I save out some of the stock straining it and storing in various amounts in the freezer.

The broth or stock is an excellent basis for onion soup, another of my favorite foods. With chicken stock on hand, you can quickly rise to the occasion, or at least to the challenge of the table, when friends drop in unexpectedly just at dinnertime. Quickly saute several onions in butter or margarine or butter-flavored cooking spray, heat up the chicken stock, ladle into bowls and top with bread and shredded Parmesan cheese and run under the broiler briefly to brown a bit, and there you are: tasty onion soup.

Or, you might choose to stir up this delicious Cheese Soup, which I found several years ago in "Pirate's Pantry," a collection of treasured recipes compiled by the members of the Junior League of Lake Charles, La. This soup is made with a basis of chicken stock with cheese and cooked red beans among the other ingredients. Here's:

PIRATE'S PANTRY... CHEESE SOUP

- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 2 cups chicken broth or stock
- 1/2 lb. American Cheddar cheese (that's 3 cups grated cheese)
- 1 Bell (green) pepper, cut into strips
- 2 cups cooked red kidney beans (or, use a can of kidney beans, 15 oz., drained)
- Generous dash Worcestershire sauce
- Seasoning to your taste. Remember, the broth or stock and beans are already seasoned. A dash of Tabasco, at least for me.

Brown the onion in the butter, add the flour to thicken and stir until you have a smooth white roux. Add the chicken broth or stock and the cheese, and heat, stirring, until the cheese melts. Add the bell pepper strips, along with the red beans and seasonings, heating until the flavors are well blended. (4 to 6 servings)

I use leftover red beans for this—leftover from traditional red-beans-and-rice for dinner on Mondays. If you prefer a thinner roux, use 1 tablespoon of flour to the 2 tablespoons of butter.

DMR hearing

The Department of Marine Resources will hold a public hearing Nov. 18 at 6:30 p.m. to discuss requests for changes in d'Iberville in the Coastal Program Wetland Use Plan. The hearing will be held at the DMR office at 152 Gateway Drive, Biloxi.

Three separate requests by residents of d'Iberville claim errors in the original Use Plan which was initiated in 1980. The requests are to change the sites from their current general use designation to commercial or other appropriate designations. Located along the Back Bay of Biloxi, the properties in question are David's Fishing Camp at 9363 Central Ave.; Holland's Custom Wooden Boats at 9362 Central Ave.; and the former LJ's Fishing Camp at 3285 Sunset Drive.

Information has been provided by the applicants and submitted to the Commission on Marine Resources according to applicable Coastal Program provisions. Concurrence is also requested from the federal Office of Ocean and Coastal Resource Management.

Comments may be submitted in writing before 1 p.m. Nov. 18 to DMR at 152 Gateway Drive, Biloxi, MS 39531.

Library celebrates Children's Book Week

"Welcome to Bayou Town," a musical puppet performance by Cherie Schadler, will be presented at the Bay St. Louis Hancock County Library Wednesday, Nov. 20 at 10:30 a.m. in observance of Children's Book Week Nov. 18-24. The program will be the library's regular children's story hour.

Schadler, author of the recently published book Welcome to Bayou Town, tells the story of the Boudreaux family that lives in Bayou Town with puppets and music. Mr. and Mrs. Boudreaux, their son Toby, Toby's pet alligator, Alfons, Mrs. Pelican and an assortment of bayou/swamp critters are depicted during the program. Her new book is available for checkout at the library.

In honor of National Children's Book Week, the Telephone Pioneers of America will be presenting each child with a package of pencils with the Pioneers' logo and the phrase "Mississippi Libraries. One word says it all." BellSouth and The Write Connection for Education.

Jay Lagasse, president of the Gulf Coast Telephone Pioneers of America, will be on hand to visit and present each child a package of pencils.

"Why We Have Thanksgiving" will be the theme at the Kiln Library Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 10:30 a.m.

Cranberry Thanksgiving, Squirrel's Thanksgiving Surprise, and Over the River and Through the Woods are books to be read. Children will make and color an Indian puppet and will receive a turkey color sheet. Children are invited to bring a friend.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one hour.

The Kiln Library hosts a story hour every other Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. These programs last about 30 minutes.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story hour information, contact Janice Parrot, Bay St. Louis Hancock County Public Library, 467-5282, or Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724.

GA. THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1996

Venturi says

On the Saints defense in the Oilers game — "We made too many mistakes, and that's one of our problems defensively. We make too many mistakes. We've got to eliminate that, or we're not going to be successful."

How do you think Jim Everett is playing? "I think he's playing very, very well. And it's clouded by the lack of some other things right now. He did a pretty good job (against the Oilers) getting rid of the ball some times, and avoiding bad plays, some things that aren't going to show up statistically."

On the rest of the season for the Saints — "If you keep fighting all day, you've got a chance the rest of the way. But basically, fundamentally, we've got to play a hell of a lot better. We've got to play a lot more physical. We can't make mistakes. We've got to tackle better. You can't linger on it (a loss). You've got to fix it. The number one thing is being ready to play, being at a high emotional level."

The Series

Atlanta leads the all-time series, 30-24. The Falcons have won two straight over the Saints, including a 19-14 victory Dec. 10 of last year at the Georgia Dome, the last time the teams squared off. Prior to that meeting, the Saints had captured four straight in Atlanta, and eight of the last nine. Overall, the Saints are 12-15 against the Falcons in Atlanta with a 3-1 mark at the Georgia Dome. Since 1986, the Saints are 13-7 against the Falcons, including a 27-20 first-round playoff loss Dec. 28, 1991 at the Superdome.

Saints' largest margin of victory: 38 (38-0, 11/1/87 at Fulton County Stadium)

Falcons' largest margin of victory: 55 (62-5, 9/16/73 at Tulane Stadium)

Current Series streak: Falcons 2 (9/17/95 - 12/10/95)

Saints' longest win streak: 6 (12/14/86 - 11/19/89)

Falcons' longest win streak: 9 (12/7/69 - 12/16/73)

Most points by Saints: 38 (11/1/87 at Fulton Co. Stadium)

Most points by Falcons: 62 (9/16/73 at Tulane Stadium)

Most points, both teams: 74 (Falcons 40, Saints 34 (OT) (9/2/79 at Superdome))

Fewest points, both teams: 17 (3 different times)

GEORGIA DOME DANDIES: Although the history of the Georgia Dome is not a lengthy one, with the Falcons new home having opened for the 1992 season, it is not short on excitement when it comes to hosting Saints-Falcons games. Of the first four contests that have been played there between these two teams, three have not been decided until the final minute. The following accounts provide examples:

Sept. 20, 1992: In just the second regular season game at the Georgia Dome, the Saints recorded a 10-7 victory. Morten Andersen's 47-yard field goal with 1:51 to play proved to be the winning margin. The outcome was not secured until Chris Miller's pass attempt with 39 seconds left was intercepted by Brett Maxie.

Sept. 12, 1993: In arguably the most exciting of any game between these teams, the Saints prevailed 34-31 on Morten Andersen's 44-yard field goal on the game's final play. The Saints held a commanding 31-10 lead entering the fourth quarter before Atlanta responded with three touchdowns within a 10-minute span of the final period to tie the game. Andersen missed a 50-yard field goal with 58 seconds remaining. On the ensuing play, Renaldo Turnbull stripped the ball from Bobby Hebert, and recovered at the Falcons' 32, setting up the game-winning kick two plays afterward.

Dec. 11, 1994: In an ESPN Sunday night affair, the Saints held on for a 29-20 victory in a game that featured six lead changes. Morten Andersen's 34-yard field goal with 11:11 left put the Saints on top for good, 19-17. After the Saints took a nine-point lead with 3:58 to play on a 5-yard TD pass from Jim Everett to Wesley Walls, Norm Johnson closed the margin on a 21-yard field goal with 2:37 on the clock. The Saints recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Andersen's 35-yard field goal with 28 seconds left iced the game.

Dec. 10, 1995: The Falcons garnered their first win over the Saints in Atlanta since 1990, 19-14. Morten Andersen booted four field goals, including three from over 50 yards. The Saints had a third-and-goal from the five with 1:00 to play, but Jessie Tuggle intercepted a Jim Everett pass in the end zone.

WORKING OVERTIME: Of the nine overtime games in Saints history, three have come against the Falcons. Atlanta has won all three, including a 27-24 decision in the first meeting last year, Sept. 17 at the Superdome, when Morten Andersen's 21-yard field goal with 4:02 to play in the overtime period lifted the Falcons to victory.

GOOD TO THE LAST MINUTE: Recent games in this series have not been decided until the final minute to play, including both games last year. Atlanta won the first contest, 27-24, on a Morten Andersen field goal in overtime.

The Falcons took the second meeting 19-14 at the Georgia Dome, and did not secure the victory until Jessie Tuggle intercepted a Jim Everett pass in the end zone with 1:00 to play. Overall, the margin of victory in 14 of the 54 games played in this series have been decided by a field goal or less, while a total of 26 have been won by seven or less.

FLYING HIGH: Some of most productive offensive days in Saints history have come against the Falcons. Over the last seven games versus Atlanta, New Orleans has averaged 407 yards of total offense. They have amassed more than 400 yards in three of the last four meetings and four of the last six. During this seven-game stretch, the Saints' lowest output has been 321 yards at the Superdome, 10/24/93. In a Sept. 12, 1993 game at the Georgia Dome, the Saints accumulated a club-record 557 total net yards in a 34-31 victory. They also picked up 512 yards in a Sept. 2, 1979 contest against the Falcons at the Superdome, a franchise standard at the time, now tied for the fourth-highest, total.

RECORD DAYS: In the 1993 meeting between these teams at the Georgia Dome, the Saints amassed a club-record 557 total net yards. Saints RB Lorenzo Neal rushed for 86 yards on just eight attempts, for a team-record 10.8-yard average per carry, before leaving the game in the third quarter with a fractured ankle.

Falcons QB Bobby Hebert and current Saints WR Michael Haynes hooked up for a 98-yard TD pass in that game, the longest completion in Atlanta history and the longest ever against the Saints. In a Sept. 2, 1984 game at the Superdome, Falcons RB Gerald Riggs rushed for 202 yards (35 atts.), the fourth-highest total ever against the Saints. In a Dec. 22, 1985 game at the Superdome, Riggs carried the ball 39 times en route to a 158-yard day, the most rushing attempts by an individual against the Saints.

In the 1982 season finale, Jan. 2, 1983 at the Superdome, Saints RB Wayne Wilson tied a team record with three rushing touchdowns, as the Saints closed out the year with a 35-6 victory. In the 1979 season-opener between these teams, Sept. 2 at the Superdome, Saints WR Wes Chandler set a team mark with 205 receiving yards on six catches.

In an Oct. 31, 1976 game at Fulton County Stadium, Falcons QB Scott Hunter completed 90.9% of his passes (10-11), the highest rate ever against the Saints.

The Saints and Falcons combined for a New Orleans two-team record for points scored when Atlanta came away with a 62-7 win Sept. 16, 1973 at Tulane Stadium. That is the largest margin of defeat for the Saints.

Also in that game, Saints QB Archie Manning was intercepted five times, tied for the most ever by a Saints QB. As a team, the Saints were picked off six times, a team record.

In a Nov. 1, 1987 game at Fulton County Stadium which the Saints won 38-0, Falcons QB Scott Campbell was intercepted five times, tied for the most ever by an opposing QB against the Saints.

Atlanta and New Orleans established a club two-team mark in a Falcons 40-34 overtime victory, Sept. 2, 1979 at the Superdome, when they combined for 58 first downs. The Falcons accounted for 35, the most ever versus New Orleans. Between the two, they completed 1,064 yards, also a record.

Carey basketball camp

The annual William Carey Holiday Baseball Camp will be held Dec. 26-28 on the Cary campus in Hattiesburg from 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. each day. The camp will feature John Stephenson, former Cary coach and currently a coach with the New York Mets, Bobby Halford and his staff, along with other former Crusader professionals, will instruct.

The camp is for ages 7-17 and features individualized instruction and tips for aspiring players. Cost is $75, which includes a noon meal and camp t-shirt. Applications may be obtained by calling the baseball office at 601-582-6110 or the office of external relations at 601-582-6192.

Guidelines offered on kids, money

Q. I have three children in pre-K and elementary school. I would like to teach them to manage money well and to save. Do you have any tips?

A. I suggest you begin by reading a good book about kids and money. Try Kiplinger's Money-Smart Kids (and Parents, Too) by Janet Bodnar and Money Doesn't Grow on Trees by Neale S. Godfrey and Carolina Edwards. Because your kids are at various ages and developmental stages, it is important to know the financial tasks each child is capable of and some techniques for teaching money management at their level. Both authors take you from preschool to college age and give suggestions on using everyday situations as well as games for teaching tools.

Standard tips I give to parents include:

* Start an allowance when the child starts kindergarten or first grade. Before this, introduce them to money ideas on their level. Help them identify coins. Talk about paying for things while you are standing in the grocery line. If your preschooler is like mine, you'll need to explain why you must pay the cashier before you take things.

Until we got that straight, I had to watch for "treasures" in her pockets whenever we shopped together.

* Set a good example by refraining from impulse buying. Instead, let them see how you plan and carefully shop for purchases.

* Be careful of tying all behavior to money such as $10 for an A, $1 for each chore. Too many parents make the mistake of using allowances to reward or punish children. Some things we should do because they are the "right" thing to do, not because we get paid. On the other hand, creating opportunities for children to earn some of their spending money teaches the value of money and a good work ethic. We don't want our children to put monetary value on character and achievement but we don't want to promote a sense of entitlement either.

* Let your children make and live with their own mistakes. Guide but never dictate their choices. It is far better to watch them learn from their own mistakes at seven or even 14 years old than to be baling them out at 30.

Q. How much should the allowance be? Is it fair to give the 11-year-old more than the younger ones or will it just cause the one with the least to feel slighted? How frequently should I pay the allowance?

A. Allowances should be graduated according to the age of the child and the financial responsibility expected of the child. A five-year-old cannot be expected to buy their own clothes, but an 11 or 12-year-old might. Therefore, the amount of the allowance should be in line with how it will be used.

The exact amount recommended varies. Godfrey suggests $1 per week for each year of age. Dr. Fred Waddell, Auburn University professor and author of Money and Your Children suggests starting out small, 50 cents to $1 per week up to age eight. For children eight to 12 years, give one to five dollars. Teens who are 13 to 15 years get five to 10 dollars (excluding outside earnings). Teens in the 16 to 19-year-old range receive up to $25 (excluding outside earnings).

Q. I have one tightwad and another free-spender. How do I teach a balance approach to saving and spending?

A. Teaching children to save is actually easier than teaching them to spend wisely. Realizing this, parents should take the opportunity to instill a savings habit before advertising and peer pressure override the desire to save and accumulate.

One of my favorite methods to teach saving is to use clear containers or jars, one for short-term saving, one for long-term saving, one for giving and one for spending. Pay young children in coins so they can divide their allowance between the jars and watch as their funds accumulate. Help the child select tangible goals then cut out pictures of items to be purchased with the money being saved. A picture associated with each goal is taped on the appropriate jar. This visual process of goal-setting and watching money grow makes saving fun. It also teaches the child how to balance spending needs with saving for longer term objectives.

Bank promotes officers

Hancock Bank Board of Directors announces the promotion of the following nine bank officers following their monthly meeting. They are:

Rebecca D. Ball was promoted to assistant vice president. Ball previously worked for Metropolitan Bank and joined Hancock Bank upon the merger of the two financial institutions in 1990. She is a loan officer in the bank's Mortgage Real Estate Department. She holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and has completed both American Institute of Banking and the Mortgage Banking Association courses.

Debbie J. Carr was promoted to loan officer. Carr was formerly employed by Peoples Federal Savings Bank in Hancock County and joined Hancock in 1992 upon the merger of the two financial institutions. She currently serves in the bank's Installment Loan Department.

J. Noel Grafe was promoted to credit officer. Joining Hancock in 1991, Grafe serves as senior credit analyst in the bank's Credit Department. He received his bachelor of science degree in banking and business administration from Mississippi State University. He presently serves on the board of International Credit Association as vice president.

Ron A. Harden was promoted to loan officer. Harden joined Hancock in 1988 and serves as a credit analyst in the bank's Indirect Loan Department. He attended Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and has completed numerous American Institute of Banking courses as well as other specialized education courses.

R. Craig Joachim has been named loan officer. Joachim joined the bank's Ocean Springs main office in 1993 and currently serves as a retail lender in the Ocean Springs office. He holds a bachelor of science degree in finance from the University of South Alabama and is vice president of the Ocean Springs Noon Lions Club. He also serves on the Board of Realtors, Biloxi/Ocean Springs, and is a member of the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce and the 1996 Jackson County Leadership Class.

Sherrell Johnson was named loan officer at Hancock's Bay 90 office. Johnson joined the bank in 1982. She attended Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and has completed various American Institute of Banking courses. Johnson is a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and serves on the Beautification Committee.

Thomas "Ford" Kinsey was promoted to loan officer. Kinsey joined Hancock in 1993 and currently serves as a retail lender in the bank's Pascagoula office. He holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration from the University of Southern Mississippi. He is a member of the Pascagoula Kiwanis Club and the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce.

Delma L. Powell Jr. was promoted to assistant vice president. Powell joined Hancock in 1989 and currently manages the Handyline, Leasing and Loan-By-Phone areas. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and presently serves as board member of the Gulfport, Kiwanis Club and is past president of the American Institute of Banking, Gulf Coast Chapter.

Roderick N. Walker has been named loan officer. Walker joined Hancock in 1985 and currently serves as a retail lender in the Installment Loan Department. He received his bachelor's degree from Southern Oklahoma State University, his master's degree in business from William Carey College, and is a graduate of the Mississippi School of Banking. He has served on the board of directors of the United Way of South Mississippi for 10 years, is vice chairman of the Funds Distribution Committee, and is co-chair for the 1996 United Way, Harrison County campaign. Walker is vice president of the Gulfport Kiwanis Club, serves on the advisory board of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, and is an alumnus of Leadership Gulf Coast.

Hancock Bank is the largest financial institution in South Mississippi with 225 full-service branches and 100 drive-up branches.

Merchants, Whitney to merge

Whitney Holding Corporation of New Orleans and Merchants Bancshares, Inc. of Gulfport, announced they have entered into a definitive agreement under which Merchants Bancshares would merge with the Whitney.

Merchants Bancshares, the parent company of Merchants Bank and Trust Co., has assets of approximately $207 million, while Whitney, the parent of Whitney National Bank, Whitney Bank of Alabama, and Whitney National Bank of Florida, is listed on NASDAQ (WTNY) and has assets of approximately $3.6 billion.

The merger is intended as a tax-free reorganization accounted for as a pooling-of-interests. The value of the transaction is $51.8 million. Shareholders of Merchants Bancshares will receive approximately $278.00 per share in Whitney common stock, subject to certain adjustments. Completion of the transaction is subject to approval by Merchants' shareholders, approval from appropriate regulatory agencies, due diligence review, and other customary conditions to closing. The merger is expected to be completed during the first quarter of 1997.

Merchants Bank and Trust has 13 banking facilities extending along the Mississippi Gulf Coast in Gulfport, Waveland, Bay St. Louis, Long Beach, Diamondhead, and Biloxi. Whitney National Bank has 61 branches throughout southern Louisiana. Whitney Bank of Alabama has 10 branches in Mobile, Montgomery and Baldwin counties, and Whitney National Bank of Florida has five branches in the Pensacola area.

William L. Marks, chairman of the board and CEO of Whitney, said, Merchants Bank and Trust Co. is an excellent, well established bank that has a long history of strength and success. Their 13 banking facilities are accessible to substantially all Gulf Coast communities except Pascagoula.

This merger is of utmost strategic importance to the Whitney as we complete a critical link in our expansion plan of offering comprehensive banking services from the Acadiana region of Louisiana, across southern Mississippi and Alabama, and into the Panhandle of Florida. We are delighted to be associated with such a fine institution as Merchants which has a customer-oriented banking philosophy similar to the Whitney.

Guy C. Billups Jr., chairman of Merchants Bancshares, said,

"We are pleased to be joining the Whitney Bank family. The Whitney is well known throughout this region for its strength and its commitment to personal banking relationships and to the communities it serves. We look forward to being an important part of its continued success in the future."

National spending should be curbed

People do a lot of talking and worrying about the national debt.

The national debt is the amount of debt owed by the federal government. It's made up of such debt obligations as Treasury bills, notes and bonds. Interest and principal due to investors on this debt is one of the government's major annual expenses. About 15 years ago, our national debt was under $1 trillion. Today, it approaches $5 trillion.

But the problem is not as bad as it may seem.

Although the national debt has grown, interest rates are lower today than they were 15 years ago. This means the government's interest expense as a percentage of debt is lower, too.

In addition, the economy has grown at a faster rate than the national debt. In 1975, the national debt was equal to about 6 percent of our country's gross domestic product (GDP). Even though the national debt's dollar amount has grown, it has been more than offset by growth in the economy so that, today, the national debt equals only about 2 percent of the GDP.

This can be compared to a person earning a higher salary and borrowing more money. Say you move into your first home and your mortgage payment represents about 30 percent of your income. Over the years, you may take on more debt, for example, to pay for cars, furniture, home improvement or tuition. But you also progress in your career, and your income increases at a faster rate than your debt, so your total debt may now only account for 15 percent of your income.

The key is that you controlled your spending so that your debt grew at a slower rate than your income.

That's what our government should be doing, as well. The federal government's financial problems lie not so much with the national debt, but instead with spending.

Government revenues have continued to increase. Even if that rate of increase slows in a year, it's still an increase. It can be compared to receiving a 5 percent raise one year and a 4 percent raise the next year. Although the percentage is lower, you still get a raise, not a pay cut. But people often make the mistake of viewing a slowdown in the economy's growth as a decline. It's not.

The economy is still growing, just at a slower rate.

One of the best ways to reduce the national debt as a percentage of our economy is to slow growth in spending. If spending increases at a slower rate and the economy increases at a slower rate, too, the national debt as a percentage of GDP will be about the same. Even better, if the economy continues to grow at today's rates — or even more — the national debt will account for a smaller percentage of our economy.

Hancock Holding declares dividend, stock buy back

Leo W. Seal Jr., president and CEO of Hancock Holding Company, announced the board of directors has declared the fourth quarter cash dividend of $0.25 per share and a special 15% stock dividend. The dividends are payable Dec. 16, 1996, to shareholders of record Dec. 5, 1996. Hancock has paid a dividend since its inception in 1937.

In addition to the dividend declarations, Hancock Holding Company directors approved an ongoing stock buy back program to repurchase up to 5 percent of the company's outstanding shares on the open market for general corporate purposes.

Hancock Holding Company, headquartered in Gulfport, is the parent company of Hancock Bank in Gulfport and Hancock Bank of Louisiana in Baton Rouge. Through its banks in Mississippi and Louisiana, the company operates more than 70 banking offices and over 100 automated teller machines.

Bank-related affiliates include Hancock Mortgage Corporation, Harrison Finance Company and Hancock Investment Services, Inc.

Hancock Holding Company common stock is listed on the NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol HBHC and in the NASDAQ newspaper quotations under the abbreviation HancHd.

AMR fills 2 positions

American Medical Response recently filled two key positions in the company's southeastern U.S. regional office, based in Gulfport.

AMR South CEO John K. Rester appointed Cynthia R. Co-field, CPA, as director of patient billing, and Kath M. Carter, CPA, as director of a new department focusing on mergers and acquisitions. Both appointments were effective Nov. 1.

Denver-based AMR is a health services corporation, part of which is the national ambulance company. AMR's ambulance division has more than 60 operations in 27 states. The southeastern region currently includes nine ambulance firms in seven states.

Carlisle promoted

Samuel H. Albritton Jr., president of the Albritton Agency in Gulfport, has announced the promotion of Pamela Carlisle to general manager of the agency.

Carlisle brought more than 15 years management experience with her when she joined the agency in February of this year as office manager. She will assume her added responsibilities and new role effective immediately.

Albritton said, "Recent diversification within the agency required us to take a close look at our day-to-day operations, as well as our plans for future growth. We felt this was a good time to ensure our management team was strong and capable of handling the challenges ahead."

McCarthy named director

Linda McCarthy, of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, has been named director of the Terrebonne Convention & Civic Center now under construction in Houma, La. The new center, tentatively scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1998, will play host to various conventions, trade shows, entertainment events, sporting events, and communitywide special activities.

In the new position, McCarthy will plan, direct, coordinate and administer the operations, finance, marketing, sales, food and beverage, event activity, booking and grand opening for the 100,000 square foot facility. In addition, she will plan, develop and implement facility policies and procedures while promoting the facility throughout the community and country.

McCarthy recently completed a contract project as a sector coordinator for the 1996 Summer Olympic Games in Atlanta. Prior to the Olympics, she served as director of marketing for the Greensboro, N.C. Coliseum and Convention Center where she was instrumental in a facility construction/renovation and opening project.

While in Greensboro, she was also active in hosting such events as the Atlantic Coast Conference, Men's Basketball Championships, NCAA Men's Basketball Championships, NCAA Women's Basketball Championships, and the 1996 Olympic Trials.

shows and community activities.

She has also held similar positions at the Bayfront Center in St. Petersburg, Fla. and the Mississippi Coast Coliseum & Convention Center in Biloxi.

"The flexibility of the facility combined with the seating capacities will be our biggest selling points," McCarthy said. "The Terrebonne Convention & Civic Center will be equipped with retractable arena seating for 5,000."

McCarthy, a member of the International Association of Assembly Managers, began her position Nov. 11.

Tax planning workshop set

This workshop will show you how to keep what you reap by biting into your tax bill. Topics to be covered include tax strategies for the small business owner and individuals, estate planning, Mississippi taxation of pensions and new legislation for individuals and businesses.

The workshop is Friday, Dec. 13, 8-8:30 a.m. registration and breakfast, 8:30-10:30 a.m. workshop at the Gulf Coast Business Technology Center, 2636 Poppy Ferry Road, Biloxi. Pre-booking is in advance of $25. The door insurance is Emily Smith, CPA.

Bay High's JROTC visits Keesler

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Some 37 members of the Bay High's AFJROTC Cadets were guests of Keesler Air Force Base's 815th Airlift Squadron, which functions under the operational control of the 403rd Wing.

The 815th Airlift Squadron, nicknamed the "Flying Jennies," has a peacetime mission to recruit, organize and train to deploy, redeploy and employ air and ground forces to any area of the world and provide them with logistical support.

The 403rd Wing provides command and staff supervisions to assigned squadrons and flights which support tactical airlift missions. The 403rd is composed of units at Keesler and Little Rock, Ark.

The Keesler-based 815th Airlift Squadron has eight C-130 Hercules, 46 officers and 109 enlisted personnel. Thirty-two of those officers and airmen are air reserve technicians.

Brigadier General Ernest R. Webster is commander of the 403rd Wing at Keesler Air Force Base.

Maj. Joe Mariotti Jr., aerospace science instructor, accompanied Bay High's cadets who flew in a C-130 Hercules airlift aircraft.

The plane's crew included, Maj. Heath Nuckolle, pilot; Capt. Walt Ord, co-pilot; Msgr. Dick Aldridge, flight engineer; Tsgt. Gayle Holeman, loadmaster; and Tsgt. J. Kitrell, loadmaster.

Tsgt. H.J. (Beau) Bentley, public affairs specialist, 403rd Wing, also accompanied the cadets on the flight along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, which included a fly-over of Bay St. Louis.

The Bay High cadets were shown two Air Force films and given a briefing by Msgr. Luke Loeding, loadmaster.

Visits were also made to Keesler's museum and to a mess hall.

Cadet Lt. Col. Kristy Osborne said, "It was neat going up in an airplane, especially flying in the cockpit."

Cadet Capt. Vadine Lewis said, "It was fun and unusual." "The flight was very different from an average trip," Cadet Commander Deshawn Peebles said.

Woody Geisel, Bay High JROTC booster, accompanied the cadets.

Senior Msgr. James Thornhill is Bay High's AFJROTC assistant aerospace science instructor.

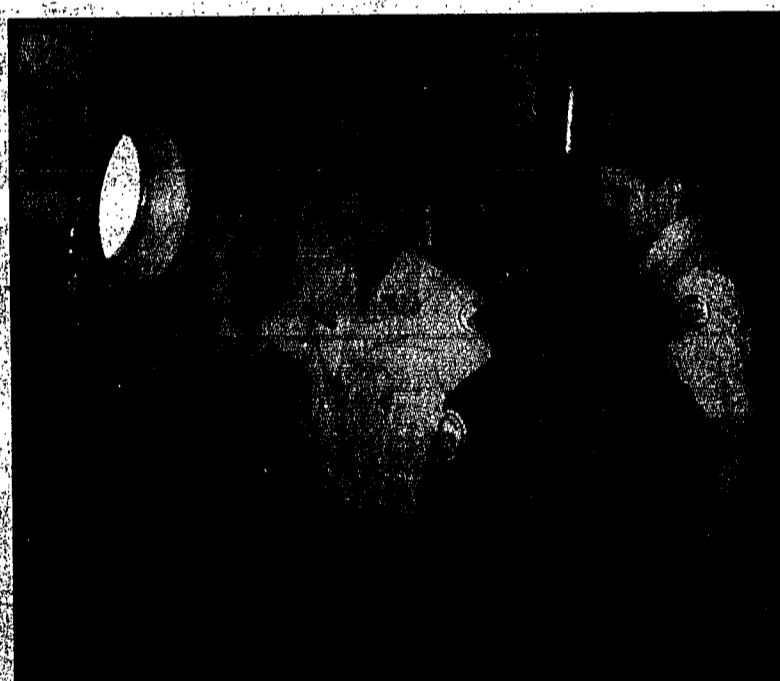

Briefing

Msgr. Luke Loeding, 815th Airlift Squadron loadmaster, briefs some 37 members of Bay Senior High's AFJROTC Cadets on Wednesday before a flight on a C-130 Hercules over the coastal area.

MILITARY

AIRMAN BOYET

Airman First Class Richard L. Boyet Jr. distinguished himself by outstanding achievement as a pneumatic systems apprentice, 11th Bomb Squadron, 2nd Operations Group, 2nd Bomb Wing, Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

On June 7, 1995, Airman Boyet observed smoke billowing from the front right wheel well of a taxiing Air Force Reserve B-52. He notified his supervisor of the emergency and proceeded to assist in stopping the bomber and evacuating the aircraft to a safe distance.

Airman Boyet then prepared aircraft and equipment in the local area for a major accident response, preventing the possible loss of life and airframe.

For his accomplishments, Airman Boyet was awarded the Air Force Achievement Medal.

CPT. KOERNER

Capt. Koerner is a member of 1st Platoon 5th Marines, stationed at Camp Pendleton, San Diego, Calif. He is a graduate of Bay High School and is married to the former Lisa Marie Penton of Lakeshore.

HOSPITALMAN ELLINGTON

Navy Hospitalman Eric J. Ellington, son of Mike W. Ellington of Waveland, recently graduated from field medical service technician course at Field Medical Service School, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

The 1991 graduate of Bay High School joined the Navy in March 1994.

PECKHAM

Marine Pfc. Ryan M. Peckham, son of Keith M. and Barbara Peckham of Park Christian, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris, Ga.

CLUBS

Hancock County
Republican Women

Hancock County Republican Women will meet Monday, Nov. 25 at noon at the Holiday Inn Beachfront in Gulfport. Guest speaker will be Charles Busby, business editor of the Sun Herald. Lunch is Dutch treat, and anyone interested is invited to attend.

American Legion and Auxiliary

The American Legion and Auxiliary, Department of Mississippi, held the Central Area Conference in Columbus Saturday, Nov. 9.

Hosting the conference at Post 69 in Columbus was Central Area Vice Commander Bill Miller. Members enjoyed lunch and hospitality provided by Post 69.

The Legion meeting was opened by Miller, and Department Commander Lawrence Freeman conducted the business meeting. Ruby Goza, Fourth District president, opened the auxiliary's meeting, and Department President Rosemary Merriman conducted the unit's business meeting. Department officers and chairmen went over the plans of work for the coming year.

Those attending from Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post and Unit in Bay St. Louis, were John and Lou Wilkerson, Janet Aime and Phyllis Moran.

Aime, Ninth District president and member of Unit 139, attended the annual fish fry at the Drane-Prine Post 79 in Wesson Nov. 8, along with Auxiliary Department Historian Billie Burke and Legion Post Department Commander Richard Clements.

American Legion Post 139

The general meeting of Bay St. Louis American Legion Post 139 was Nov. 14. Commander Wayne Oliver extended a safe and happy holiday season wish to all and requested those who have not paid their 1997 to please do so.

With the holiday season here, the post has scheduled many events starting with the Scarborough family annual Thanksgiving dinner in the main hall on Nov. 18. The Post Christmas party is scheduled for Dec. 13. The annual New Year's dance and breakfast is set for Dec. 31. Tickets are $10 per person and may be obtained at the post club house or phone 467-7100. The senior citizens Christmas dinner will be Dec. 11 in the Post main hall.

A report was given on the Veterans Day program, and thanks were extended to the veterans, Bay High band and Bay High JROTC for taking part in the program.

The building committee reports that flag poles are being installed at the main entrance and the tank site. A U.S. Mississippi and POW flag will fly at each site.

The committee is also looking into the type of Scouts building that can best serve the post Scouts program.

A get-well wish is extended to members Bill Stewart, Sid Snow, John Fishel, O'Neal Cochran, Walter Beebe, Charles Thomas, Bill Austin, Pepper Givens, Norman Foucha and Joe Collier.

There will be a special election for a trustee at the January meeting.

The Blood Bank Committee reports that 65 points of blood were collected at its October blood drive.

A special thank-you is sent to all the many post volunteers in community service during the past year and hope that legionnaires continue to serve the community in the coming year.

Guest speaker will be Melinda K. Richard, who will talk on how to dry flowers and greenery for holiday arrangements.

Red Ribbon Week

The students of Bay High School celebrated Red Ribbon Week Oct. 23-31 under the guidance of SADD. There were numerous activities throughout the week starting with the decoration of the school with red ribbons. SADD also visited North Bay, Waveland Elementary and Bay Middle School with the support of the junior high cheerleaders and the JROTC drill team to present programs on being drug free. While Oct. 25 was homecoming for Bay High and Reach Out Day for Red Ribbon Week, it was decided to have a combination pep rally/red ribbon activity. To begin the activities all seniors were given red helium-filled balloons (biodegradable). The balloons were released in unison to show a unity among students against drugs. The activity later carried over to the homecoming game where cheerleaders, band members and football players wore the red ribbons. SADD's next activity will be the annual talent show Dec. 5 at 6:30 p.m. in Bay High Auditorium.

Whiplash...A Job For The Doctor of Chiropractic

You've had an accident. Maybe it involved your car and it's banged up. Now what? Well, let's see. Call the insurance company and report the damages; take the car in and get the necessary estimates; see if you can get a loaner; get the job done. And try not to think about the sore neck... or leg... or knee... or shoulder. The pain will probably go away in a few days. Won't it?

Unfortunately, in the case of a whiplash neck injury, the symptoms may not appear for several days or even weeks following the accident. By then, you may not even associate the stiff neck, persistent headaches, irritability or nausea with the real cause — that bent fender that has long since been repaired.

Many of the cervical disorders we've studied have been the result of auto accidents. Most of these injuries were due to whiplash incurred in rear-end auto collisions. The violent backward snapping, then the forward rolling motion of the head following impact puts a tremendous strain on the neck. Torn muscles, stretched ligaments and spinal damage frequently occur.

Time is not on your side in the case of a whiplash injury. Left untreated, the condition will only worsen, often developing into severe migraine headaches, extreme nervousness, insomnia or arthritis.

The victim of a whiplash neck injury is truly in need of appropriate treatment and care, the type care offered by Chiropractic. As a specialist in the problems of the spine, nerves and muscles, the Doctor of Chiropractic is recognized as well qualified to deal with whiplash injuries. Unfortunately, too many don't know this.

North Bay students elect Clinton

North Bay Elementary School students declared Bill Clinton the presidential winner early in the day Nov. 5. Students in grades K-3 were encouraged by teachers to learn about candidates and to follow the campaigns. Classrooms made campaign posters to display throughout the school. Students were required to register in order to vote. Voting took place in the school library complete with voting booths and ballot boxes.

Special 'test drive' at USM

A special "test-drive" course will be available next spring at the University of Southern Mississippi. Gulf Coast for individuals interested in seeking a degree in hotel, restaurant and tourism management.

A new, more flexible HRT degree program, announced recently, allows individuals who meet basic requirements to enter the program at varying levels of education and/or work experience. By adding more flexibility to an existing program, USMGC seeks to meet growing employment demands within the Gulf Coast's booming hospitality industry.

"In the spirit of 'test-drive,' we are offering this course to individuals who would like to find out what a degree and career in hotel, restaurant, and tourism management is all about," said Karl Titz, USMGC assistant professor of HRT. "We plan to team-teach the course and, in addition to being exposed to the career area, students will be exposed to all of the faculty as well."

"USMGC's unique 'Test-Drive-A-Degree' program, launched last summer in other academic areas, allows qualified participants to attend, and get credit for, one free course. Plus, there's extra pre-admission orientation to ease the way back into school and required textbooks are loaned to students. The concept is an effort to attract Coast residents who had put aside, but not abandoned, dreams of earning a college diploma. It was designed for students who had completed at least 54 college credit hours but had not been enrolled in college for three years.

"In addition to re-entering college we feel there are probably lots of people on the Coast who would like to complete their degree or obtain a second degree and work in the fastest-growing career field on the Coast," Titz said.

The new package of educational opportunities also encompasses USMGC's existing Culinary Arts Academy and the Educational Institute as part of a coordinated effort to provide skilled workers and managers needed by the hospitality industry.

The Educational Institute is a joint venture of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Hotel and Motel Association and USMGC Continuing Education. The Culinary Arts Academy trains managers and chefs.

Prospective test-drive students for the 1997 spring semester should begin signing up now, Titz said, in order to take advantage of special orientation sessions that will be offered to help smooth their way back into the classroom.

For complete and official information and guidelines, call toll-free in Harrison County (601) 863-6691, or from Hancock and Jackson counties, 1-800-488-0742.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

The Blue Jeans Garden Club was held at RSVP Oct. 17. President Joyce Hicks called the meeting to order and introduced guest Rose Fryers.

The secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting, and the treasurer gave the financial report.

Bev Coogan reported on plans for the Christmas luncheon. Betty Klein reviewed the point system for the Thanksgiving and Christmas arrangements.

The nominating committee submitted the names to be nominated in November.

The meeting was a fun and games meeting with a luncheon served. Hostesses were June Bonch, Dot Feaheny, Mayola Rotherham and Lucille Witter.

The half/half was won by Betty Klein, and the door prize was won by Jennie Ortis.

Arbor Day celebration

The National Arbor Day Foundation has announced a special 125th anniversary edition of its popular "Celebrate Arbor Day" information packet.

The packet features an informational booklet with suggestions for communities, schools and individuals to celebrate the historic anniversary of one of America's — and the world's — most important holidays, Arbor Day.

Sample proclamations, reproducible graphics, quotes, plays, poems and songs are included in the packet. It also features tree-planting instructions and fund-raising suggestions.

Arbor Day was the idea of J. Sterling Morton, a pioneer, journalist and orator who settled in Nebraska in the mid-1800s. His personal mission was to introduce orchards and forests to the vast treeless prairie, and he accomplished his goal with the establishment of Arbor Day in 1872.

More than a million trees were planted in Nebraska on the first Arbor Day.

To get your own free information packet about how to celebrate the 125th anniversary of Arbor Day, send your name and address to "Celebrate Arbor Day," The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Is this your idea of Thanksgiving? It's a four-day weekend. It's an opportunity for family gatherings. It's a time for celebrating with turkey, dressing and all the trimmings.

Psalm 117 captures the real essence of Thanksgiving. "Praise the Lord, all nations; Laud Him, all peoples! For His lovingkindness is great toward us. And the truth of the Lord is everlasting. Praise the Lord."

Thanksgiving is a special time to honor and praise the God of the Bible. This is not to say family celebrations are bad. They're not. The point is that God has given you your family. If you enjoy those family gatherings with more than ample food on the table, thank God!

Not only so, Psalm 117 talks about lovingkindness and truth. You cannot always depend upon other people. What about God's lovingkindness? The Bible says, "God demonstrates His love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Romans 5:8). You can depend upon that. What about the truth of God's

Give thanks to God

Word in the Bible? Jesus said, "Not the smallest letter or stroke shall pass from the Law, until all is accomplished" (Matthew 5:18). You can depend on that too.

This Thanksgiving give thanks to God for your family and friends, food and shelter, work and recreation, owns and country, schools and teachers, churches and the Savior.

Blood drives

Holiday shopping and festivities are in full swing. But holidays can be draining on the American Red Cross.

There will be a blood drive Sunday, Nov. 17 at St. Paul's Catholic Church, 140 E. Beach Boulevard, Pass Christian, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

The blood type most needed is B Positive. To donate, you must be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds and have not given in the past 56 days.

For information, call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE.

The Gift of Listening
Have you ever had a conversation with someone and felt that your comments weren't being listened to or understood? Well, you were probably right. Listening is an art, and it takes practice to become a good conversationalist. Meaningful conversation, however, is useless without listening, understanding, and considering the other person's point of view.

Sometimes, we are so concerned with what we are going to say next, that we don't listen to the other person's comments. Prayer is conversation with God, and God is a good listener. He hears all of our prayers, but sometimes we should just sit back and listen to Him. In the quiet of our listening, that still, small voice that comes from deep within is God conversing with us.

Hearing is one of the body's five senses. But listening is an art.
—Frank Tyger
Remember this, my dear brothers! Everyone must be quick to listen, but slow to speak...
—Good News Bible James 1:19

Civil War program set at Old Capitol Museum

A storytelling performance and lecture on life in Mississippi during the Civil War will be held at the Old Capitol Museum (State Street at Capitol in Jackson) on Saturday, Nov. 23. Sponsored by the Department of Archives and History and the Blue and Gray Education Society, the program will begin at 7 p.m. with a performance entitled "Summer of '63: Chimneyville," by Diane Williams; Doris Jones and Pat Mason of the Mississippi Storytellers Guild.

At 8 p.m., Dr. Herman Hattaway, professor of history, University of Missouri, Kansas City, will give a lecture entitled "Letters from Forest Place, The Mississippi Homefront." The Saturday evening program, which is free and open to the public, is part of a two-day Blue and Gray Education Society symposium, "Mississippi in the Civil War." The symposium begins at 8:30 a.m. on Friday, with a tour of Champion Hill Battlefield in the afternoon, led by Ed Bearss and Parker Hills. Sessions resume Saturday morning with afternoon tours, followed by the program at the Old Capitol Museum on Saturday evening.

Participating scholars include Ed Bearss, Mark Grimley, Hermann Hattaway, Parker Hills, Brian Steel Wills, Terry Winschel, and Stephen Woodworth.

Registration is $250 for the entire symposium, which includes two lunches and a dinner at Cock of the Walk restaurant. Teachers register at $135, students $95. The BGES is a non-profit group dedicated to Civil War battlefield interpretation through programs and on-site informational markers.

For information on the symposium, call Len Reidel (804) 797-4531. For information on the free Saturday evening program, call the Old Capitol Museum at (601) 359-6920.

Free art workshop planned at museum

The Walter Anderson Museum of Art and International Paper, Moss Point Mill, are sponsoring two free art workshops Saturday, Nov. 23.

Artist Roberta Little will lead workshops in "Creative Gift Wrap" for children and adults. Space is limited, and reservations are required. Call 872-3164.

Because paint is used, participants may want to wear smocks or old clothes.

The children's session (7 and above) will be 10 a.m.-noon and will focus on designing unique wrapping paper using simplistic printing techniques. Participants will also learn how-making skills.

The adults' session will be 1-3 p.m. and will also focus on hand-decorating wrapping paper, bow making and wrapping techniques. Little will also demonstrate how to use common household items for gift wrap enhancements and how to arrange gift baskets.

"These workshops are designed to illustrate how anyone can make beautiful and unique gift wrapping without spending much money," says Little. "Commonly found items, such as brown paper, feathers, dried leaves and flowers and shells can create a professional-looking presentation that is really a work of art."

This is the third year that International Paper-Moss Point Mill has sponsored Saturday family art activities at the museum. Museum operations are supported in part by funding from the Mississippi Arts Commission, a state agency.

Stamp, coin show returns to Gulf Coast

On Nov. 22-24 a Quality Collectors Show will be held at the Holiday Inn-Beachfront (Coliseum) at 2400 Beach Boulevard, west of the Coliseum in Biloxi.

Hours will be 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free, and ample free parking is available.

Dealers from all over the South will offer a wide variety of collectibles, including stamps, covers, stamp collecting supplies, phone cards, coins, currency, numismatic supplies, sports and other types of collectible cards, sports memorabilia, pogs, casino collectibles, NAS-CAR collectibles and comics.

Indian Pow Wow set for Thanksgiving

As an alternative to the family's usual Thanksgiving dinner, the Poarch Creek Indians will host their 26th annual Thanksgiving Homecoming and Intertribal Pow Wow on Thanksgiving Day and the following Friday.

The Pow Wow is a celebration giving people from across the United States the chance to come and enjoy a few days of traditional Indian heritage and fun. Daniel McGhee, the coordinator for the Pow Wow, said, "The Pow Wow is a great way for families to break away from the usual routine surrounding the Thanksgiving holidays; and at the same time, it gives them the opportunity to learn more about another culture."

The games will open at 9 a.m. on both days of the event. Activities are scheduled throughout each day beginning with exhibition dancing by the Oklahoma Creek Stomp Dancers at 9:30 a.m. and the Native American dance group, The Plainsmen at 10:30 a.m.

Opening ceremonies begin at noon with the Poarch Creek Indian Princess contest immediately following. Guest speaker is George Almerigi, the second chief of the Muskogee Creek Nation of Oklahoma. The princess contest is held annually to choose one girl in three age categories from the Poarch Creek Indian Tribe to be representative across the United States.

Plenty of food and drinks will be sold. Among the foods available are desserts, turkey legs, barbecue sandwiches, traditional turkey dinner plates, Indian roasted corn, Indian tacos and Indian fry bread.

The Pow Wow grounds are located on the Poarch Creek Indian Reservation at Exit 54 off I-65, eight miles northwest of Atmore on Jack Springs Rd. (Escambia County Road 1). For information, contact Daniel McGhee, at (344) 368-9136.
